On the cover: “Dentists in Louisiana Want to Give Opioids the Boot” Kids’ Art Contest. The Louisiana Dental Association would like to do its part in educating our members and the public on the dangers of opioid abuse. The Louisiana Dental Association Opioid Awareness Ad Hoc Committee hosted a kids’ art contest. Our overall winner was Cameron Basinger from Caddo Magnet High School in Shreveport. His artwork is featured on the front cover, as well as on a tear out for members on page 23. Special thanks to our sponsors: Brown & Brown Association Services Professionals and MCNA Dental.

Thank You for Carrying the Load for All of Us

Many of us pay our dues each year and sit back and hope that “someone” is doing all the work to make our association run. I became editor of the LDA Journal in 1997 (yep, I am old), and I have had the unique opportunity to see it from both sides! As the editor, I have had an ex-officio position on the LDA Board of Directors. I have not been directly involved in the decisions, but I have had the chance to hear the discussions and see the hard work of so many of my peers.

These talented and hardworking individuals have slowly worked their way up the “board” ladder and many have served as president, and then a few years later, I see them voted upon as Distinguished Service Award (DSA) recipients. What can I say, they are deserving. This year is no different.

Drs. Bob Barsley, Nelson Daly, Charlie Foy, and Steve Ortego were the 2019 DSA recipients. Their service to our association has been immeasurable and every one of them is still actively involved in the LDA and organized dentistry. Thank you, gentlemen! Thank you for carrying the load for all of us.

I have had the privilege of seeing each of this year’s recipients in various positions within both the LDA and their components. This is, by the way, the highest award bestowed by the LDA.

Drs. Bob Barsley, Nelson Daly, Charlie Foy, and Steve Ortego were the 2019 DSA recipients. Their service to our association has been immeasurable and every one of them is still actively involved in the LDA and organized dentistry. Thank you, gentlemen! Thank you for carrying the load for all of us.

This made me think, we also have had some pretty amazing presidents. I’ve included a photo of the 2019 Past Presidents’ Breakfast that the LDA hosts the morning of the LDA House of Delegates. These folks worked tirelessly for our profession in their time on the board and still gather each year to catch up and attend the House in order to hear about the business of the association. Some of them will still serve as delegates here and there because they understand the importance of the long-term goals.
and legislative strategies that are approved that one morning each year during the LDA House. I personally can’t thank them enough for their service!

Additionally, I would like to formally thank our outgoing president, Dr. Danny Weaver, for his dedication. Besides the regular duties of the president, Dr. Weaver worked to institute text messaging for members, as well as adding to and building upon our contact dentist system. Both endeavors were achieved and will continue to be improved as we move forward.

I would also like to personally congratulate our newest president, Dr. Kristi Soileau. I was a dental school classmate of her husband, Dr. David DeGenova (LSUSD, 1978), and they are just a wonderful family dedicated to our profession. Kristi will serve us with amazing commitment and her diligence to service will be second to none. Our newly elected president elect is Dr. Trey Carlton. The scary thing for me is that Trey’s father, Dr. David Carlton, Jr. (LSUSD, 1978, also!) was president of the LDA in 2000. Trey will bring incredible knowledge and experience to our board as well - 2nd generation no less!

Again, thank you all for your service! I have enjoyed sitting back all these years at board meetings and watching the decisions as they are made.
Dedicated Tripartite Members

The transition from Dr. Weaver’s presidential term to mine has been relatively seamless so far. While his efforts towards increasing one-on-one contact relationships with legislators continue to be notable, I hope we will all try to increase our one-on-one efforts to bring new members into the fold of organized dentistry. Energetically seek out those who are not members (we have a list for you if you would like one!) and enthusiastically encourage those whom you believe have talent and the wherewithal to serve our association at a deeper level of service.

We need YOU...and more! If you have never been asked to be on a committee or serve on any council, it is not because we don’t need you. So often, the more active members get so caught up in our own busyness that we fail to ask for new ideas or forget to welcome your valuable input. The main thing we need from you is your ambassadorship. When you next hear a non-member say, “The LDA and the ADA do nothing for me...just look at what a mess things are regarding such and such...,” quickly remind them that things would be a lot worse if it weren’t for all the legislative efforts achieved through member unity!

The ADA is 160 years and 160,000 members strong! We currently have the second highest health care PAC on Capitol Hill, thanks to donors who sweat to give! We are aiming for number one, though, and thankfully we can add the facts that not only are our lobbyists very well respected in Washington, but also that the ADA funds campaigns of dentists who run for Congress from our donations. Did you know that we now have four dentists in Congress? That’s lots of lobbying power.

For the first time since the 40’s, when insurance companies were first exempted from anti-trust laws with the McCarran-Ferguson bill, we finally now have a bill with a sponsor in both Houses that seeks to repeal this special treatment. This, for one thing, would create fairer, competitive pricing, and hopefully make affordable dental insurance available to more people.

Further, on the state level, our LDA staff have been extremely busy in the Legislature working to protect dentists in many other ways. You shouldn’t have to accept credit card payments with attached fees from insurance companies where you’d prefer a check; you should be able to offer in-office dental discounts without being held to rules that govern insurance companies; and there are a myriad of other acts that our dedicated staff have been entrenched in, all for our benefit (see the article starting on page 12 for more info on our legislative successes).

Then there’s also the generous offering of C.E., the social, networking, and communal benefits, and yet people say they don’t see the point of membership. If they can give a concrete purpose-filled reason for this line of thinking, then I’m willing to hear it, but it is more often than not the case that many are simply comfortable letting others carry the entire load.

When I think of such membership status variations, it brings to mind the upcoming July LDA Fishing Rodeo. There are those who could sit on the bank, waiting for others to bring in the fish, while complaining about what’s taking so long. Then there are those who throw out their lines in earnest effort, especially those who go into the deep water miles out, to make sure they’ve got the backs of ALL dentists needing to survive.

To you who join organized dentistry, and who year after year cast out far and wide, we appreciate you and applaud your efforts. It is because of you that we are the strong, well-respected profession (not trade) that we are. I’d like to explain my position further with the following words of encouragement to you who are in The Arena of Membership:

Following his African safari, it was a time of great speech-making for Theodore Roosevelt, who gave some of his best-known addresses during his “Statesman’s Tour” of Europe. One such talk, “Citizenship in a Republic” was given at the Sorbonne in Paris on April 23, 1910. It contains one of Roosevelt’s best-remembered quotes, The Man in the Arena: “It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.”

LDS had a big announcement for LDA members June 1. We now have an endorsement with TDSC (The Dentists Supply Company).

Who doesn’t want to save money on the products they are already purchasing? And speaking of saving money, wait until you hear this! Never heard of TDSC? You will, and in a big way, as this is the next best thing in savings for all of us! TDSC is an online dental supply shopping site for tripartite members of the American Dental Association (ADA) that was created by the California Dental Association (CDA). And the CDA went big! They spent millions of dollars setting up a distribution system that will speed products to you in a timely manner…the same products you use every day, but at a sizable reduction in costs.

One of the dentists in our office submitted a year’s worth of our invoices from the two largest dental supply companies for comparison while LDS was considering the endorsement. TDSC’s prices were $30,000 less. YES, THAT’S WHAT I SAID, $30,000 LESS. I couldn’t believe it myself! Be sure and count those four zeroes!

LDA members have enjoyed significant savings on exam gloves and supplies through the endorsement of Association Gloves & Supplies. Now, LDA and Association Gloves & Supplies have formed an alliance with TDSC to provide those savings on a wider selection of supplies through one easy-to-shop site. Get started today at tdsc.com/louisiana. Association Gloves & Supplies, which is owned by the Michigan Dental Association, was so impressed with what CDA is doing that it is folding its operation into TDSC.

“Being that I already use and am pleased with Association Gloves, I thought it to be a no brainer to try TDSC. It’s nice to save money when I can, and having already placed three orders, though small items such as polishing points, I have saved over $260 compared to what I usually spend on the same items. I expect to keep placing orders!”

- Dr. Robert Lestage, DeRidder, LA

Take a moment ask your staff to compare prices. I feel certain that you’ll want to at least get some of your supplies from TDSC and at incredible savings.

Superior Value, For Members Only … we’re serious about our motto so give one or two companies a try and see how much you can save!

For a complete list of endorsed companies, visit www.ladental.org/LDS
Let’s Work Together.

Because when independent dentists work together, it can lead to big savings on dental supplies for practices of every shape and size.

TDSC is proud to partner with the Louisiana Dental Association to save members more on supplies than they pay in dues.

The 2019 regular session of the Louisiana Legislature adjourned sine die on Thursday, June 6, with one of the final acts being approval of a $30 billion state operating budget for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The session was chock full of wins for dentistry and the LDA. Both LDA sponsored bills have already been signed by the Governor and will be effective Aug. 1, 2019. Every bill the LDA opposed either died or was amended to eliminate the objectionable aspects. Here is the breakdown:

LDA Bills:

SB 73 (Act 49) – This bill required that dental plans: 1) refrain from using virtual credit cards as the only means of issuing payment for claims, 2) advise dentists if there are fees associated with any payment method, and 3) inform dentists of how they may change the method by which they receive claims payments. SB 73 has been signed by the Governor and is effective 8/1/19.

SB 127 (Act 55) – This bill established requirements for direct primary care agreements (DPCAs) between dentists and patients and stipulates that such agreements are NOT insurance for regulatory purposes. DPCAs are gaining in appeal with dentists around the country as an alternative to, or substitute for, dental insurance. SB 127 should make it easier for dentists in LA to offer DPCAs to their patients. The bill was amended in committee to include some additional language from a corresponding law that applies to DPCAs between physicians and patients and clarifies that the provider generally cannot receive insurance reimbursement for services covered under the DPCA. This is a standard provision in DPCA laws around the country, and so did not adversely affect the bill. SB 127 has been signed by the Governor and is effective 8/1/19.
Budget (HB 105)

Compared to the prior year, funding was increased for colleges, health services, foster care, senior centers, early childhood education and public safety programs. The TOPS tuition program will cover all eligible students. K-12 teachers will get a $1,000 raise in the 2019-2020 school year, school support workers will get $500 more annually and districts will get $39 million in new discretionary money for their operations.

LSUSD funding – Funding for LSUHSC, which includes LSUSD, appears to be essentially unchanged from the prior year.

Dental Medicaid – Thanks in large measure to the efforts of Dr. Don Donaldson and DAPPAC, an additional appropriation of $2 million in State funds was added to HB 105 for increased reimbursement for a few highly targeted restorative procedures. This should translate to about $5.7 million in new funding when the federal match is added in.

FMP funding – The LA Department of Health (LDH) got a line item in the appropriations bill (HB 105) to account for funds associated with implementing a Full Medicaid Pricing (FMP) program for dental Medicaid. The LDA has been collecting Letters of Intent from dental Medicaid providers so that LDH can have an actuary calculate just how much additional funding can be obtained for the program, based on the volume of Medicaid billed by those dentists. All dental practices that returned LOIs and subsequently sign up for the program should in the not too distant future be receiving supplemental payments based on the volume of Medicaid services for which they have been reimbursed. Dentists who did not return LOIs should be able to join the program at a later date.

Other LDA Priorities:

HB 69 (Act 324) – As approved by the LDA House of Delegates, this bill – which technically was introduced on behalf of the Louisiana Association of Oral and...
Maxillofacial Surgeons – would ensure that one of the at-large positions on the State Board of Dentistry (LSBD) would be henceforth held by an oral surgeon, dental anesthesiologist or other dentist with comparable training in sedation and anesthesia. The bill was amended to become effective immediately without removing anyone currently serving on the board (i.e., there would for a short time be an extra board member until the next time the term for an at-large seat is due to expire.) The bill has been signed by the Governor, and was effective as of 6/11/19.

HB 352 – This bill introduced on behalf of Blue Cross/Blue Shield of LA (BCBS) essentially would have created exceptions to the non-discrimination provisions in insurance law. According to BCBS, this would enable them to implement programs that have been requested by providers such as disease management and similar that incentivize maintaining health rather than just curing illnesses. As introduced, the exceptions also applied to the law that governs transparency of network leasing. That drew fire from provider groups (including LDA), and BCBS quickly agreed to amend that provision out of the bill. A few other minor amendments addressed other provider concerns, and the bill generally viewed as benign by most provider groups. However, lingering opposition from optometrists led BCBS to pull the bill before a final vote in the Senate.

HB 371 – This bill would have established an independent dispute resolution process for claims from out-of-network providers rendering services at in-network facilities. It basically was just another variation on the types of bills the LDA has consistently opposed that have been filed almost annually attempting to force providers who have never signed a network contract to accept less than their regular fee when they practice in a facility that does have agreements with networks. This bill never made it out of committee.

SB 187 – This bill would have required all licensing boards in LA to give licensees the option of having a disciplinary matter adjudicated by an administrative law judge rather than a panel of that licensing board (Note: the LSBD is already required to do this.) The bill would also have overhauled the disciplinary process for all licensing boards. There were a few provisions in the bill that might have been beneficial for dentists who are investigated by the LSBD, but there were more provisions that would have created problems and unneeded expense. The LDA indicated to the bill’s author a willingness to work on the bill and improve it, but that became a moot point when the bill died in committee.

Drs. Jeffry Leeson, Sally Daly, and Philip Gastinel.

Dr. Aaron Mangum, Rep. Mike Johnson, and Dr. Troy Babb.
First and foremost, I would like to thank the LADPAC board members and component officers who sold tickets in the local areas for the Split the Pot Raffle. We had one of our most successful years and total participation was excellent! Eight of the nine components sold tickets, with Northeast selling over 200 tickets, a record for our state.

Congratulations to our winners! First prize went to Dr. Jude Fairchild - $1,000; second prize to Dr. Gary Caskey - $500; and third prize to Dr. John Shephard - $200. Not only did these LDA members participate but they gave back almost all of their winnings to LADPAC! Thank you, thank you, thank you for believing in LADPAC and organized dentistry and the importance of our legislative work.

Many of you may not understand how LADPAC participates in our governmental affairs efforts. Your contribution by joining LADPAC, purchasing raffle tickets, or by simply making a donation is the vehicle that our contact dentists, Council on Government Affairs, and governmental affairs team can use to get in front of legislators so that they can hear about our issues. Again, YOUR contribution makes this happen! Please continue to join LADPAC as an optional fee on your yearly dues statement or buy raffle tickets from a LADPAC Board member.

Session is over and this was another good one for the LDA and for dentists! See pages 12-15 for more details. However, this is an election year, and next year will bring in a legislature full of new faces (thanks to term limits) and new challenges. So let’s continue to support LADPAC and our LDA governmental affairs efforts. Remember, LADPAC is one of the best investments you can make for your practice and your profession!
The LDA now offers a text message system for our members for important reminders and alerts. Because of the federal rules related to spam, members must sign up themselves for the text messages. We do not plan to inundate you with text messages, but we would like to send quick reminders, especially during the legislative session, for bills and laws related to dentistry. Sign up is available at all times from the LDA’s home page, www.ladental.org. If at any time you want to unsubscribe, you are able to unsubscribe from the system.
Hope for the Best, Prepare for the Worst

None of us want to discuss or think about death or long-term disability. Humans cope with the possibility of death by ignoring it, which leads to a lack of preparation when the inevitable happens. In any given year, 10-40% of our dental practice transitions are the result of an unexpected death or disability, and less than half of those clients are adequately prepared for it. I’ve lost count of the different ways dentists find to die or cripple themselves, from the run of the mill heart attack to freakish accidents you would swear came from a movie. No matter how it happens, though, it usually happens suddenly and with little warning. As I write this, I am preparing to attend the funeral of my 35-year-old cousin. He died unexpectedly of a heart attack after a brief bout with pneumonia.

Usually, I receive those dreaded calls about someone I don’t know well, and I try to comfort the family left behind. There are no words that really provide comfort, so my primary job is to see if I can assist in maximizing the return on the sale of the deceased’s dental practice. Time is the greatest enemy in distressed practice sales; purchase offers decrease immediately upon death, and all but evaporate within a few short months. Consequently, practitioners should prepare their spouse or loved ones to bring the practice to market quickly once a tragedy occurs.

When a death occurs, the survivors move in a fog and are usually unable to think clearly or make important decisions. So, please be sure to leave your family and employees some guidance on what to do with your practice. If the data is readily available, we can act quickly. However, we are often left piecing together records and searching for information in order to bring the practice to market.

1. Have a will and update it every few years. Either execute a codicil with instructions for your practice, or leave a letter of direction for your heirs to follow. Designate a lead advisor for the practice sale (CPA, attorney, broker, etc.)

2. Have an emergency plan with the office staff. Make a list of possible substitute dentists who might help keep your practice open in an emergency. Have a plan for rescheduling patients. Providing a game plan to the staff helps keep morale up during a highly stressful time.

3. Write down user IDs and Passwords for your practice management software and other accounts. Review this list every three months to make sure it is still up to date.

4. Start a spreadsheet with all of your assets, including account numbers. If you have a safety deposit box, write down the bank name and address and the place you keep the key. If you have any debt, please include a section with bank names, account numbers and amounts. Mark your phone to review and update this list yearly and tell your spouse or eldest child where to find this list.

5. Gather the information needed for a practice appraisal: 3 years tax returns, staff payroll data, office lease or building appraisal, etc. Update it yearly.

Although your dental practice may not be the largest asset you own, the sale of your practice will help your loved ones to start moving on. Obligations to patients for completing treatment and record maintenance do not end with death. Payroll, rent, and other office debts will continue to accrue, and the additional burden of office management is highly stressful to surviving family members.

Finally, a word about insurance. If you are not married and have absolutely no one depending on your assistance for their future, you don’t need life insurance. You do still need disability insurance, unless you can live off social security disability benefits (hint: you probably cannot). “Own occupation” insurance is the best. Many policies terminate payments at age 65, although there are a few that continue for life if you are disabled by a given age. Shop wisely and purchase now if you have not done so already.

If you are a young dentist with a spouse and children, it is your obligation and duty to have both a disability policy and a life insurance policy. They come in all sorts of flavors and sizes, but the least expensive life insurance policy will usually be a straight term policy.

I hope all of you have a long and happy life and retire long before you become disabled or turn up your toes. However, it surely would help if you took just a little time to prepare for the worst.
As a pediatric dentist, the safety and comfort of our patient’s experience is a top priority. Partnering with Lake Area Anesthesia allows us to provide the same safe anesthesia found in the O.R. but in the comfort of an office setting. The staff is always safe, professional, courteous, and their RN’s provide a safe post-op recovery experience for both the patient and the families...eliminating the high cost associated with an O.R.

Five Easy-to-Miss Tax Loopholes

Yes, tax season has come and gone again, but tax strategy should be part of your overall, year-round financial plan. Many legitimate tax loopholes out there are easy to overlook and could cost you thousands out of pocket. You should always work with an experienced CPA, who can truly help you navigate and apply the Internal Revenue Code and all of its loopholes to minimize taxes and audit risk without violating the law. The terrain is complex, and a guide will be well worth your investment. Today, let’s look at a few legitimate tax loopholes you shouldn’t overlook.

Bad Debts

If someone owes you money that you are unable to collect, you may be able to take a bad debt deduction. You can do this if you previously included the amount in your income or loaned out your cash and you can show it as a valid debt. Remember this was never intended as a gift, but as an actual loan. Of course, if you do loan out money, best practice is to have a promissory note with a valid interest rate and terms of the loan in writing.

Capital Gains and Tax Rates

Most of the time it is your benefit to sell capital assets for capital gains, not ordinary income rates. Capital gains rates for most taxpayers are no higher than 15% which is considerably lower than ordinary income rates. Make sure you hold the investment for longer than twelve months to get the long-term capital gain benefit.

Second Home Mortgage Interest Deduction

You may be able to deduct the interest on a mortgage up to $750,000 on all mortgages for a qualified second home. Interestingly enough, a qualified second home can include a house, condominium, cooperative, mobile home, house trailer, boat or similar property that has sleeping, cooking and toilet facilities.

Rental Income

You can rent out your home online for short term lodging as long as it is for a maximum of 15 days a year. If you rent it out for less than 15 days – then you don’t need to include it as income, any more than that allotted time needs to be reported.

Charitable Gifts

There are many ways to give to your favorite charity. If you are older than 70 ½ you’re required by the IRS to withdraw a certain percentage of your IRA each year (required minimum distribution). You are allowed to withdraw $100,000 from the IRA as a qualified charitable distribution and send it directly to the charity, and therefore reduce your taxable income.

For your non-retirement investments, you can donate a highly appreciated stock to the charity or start an inexpensive donor advisory fund that can grow and be disbursed to the charity at your discretion.

Take a Guide

Many people overlook these and many other legitimate tax loopholes. You need a strategy-minded team to help guide you through the tax and financial planning world. To get you started, download our free guide, 8 Legitimate Tax Loopholes You May Be Missing, at www.oliviergroup.com.

Kids’ Art Contest

Opioids – natural or synthetic, illicit or otherwise – all carry similarly high risks of dependency, addiction and overdose and are known to be addictive.

Opioids also include common prescription pain relievers. If misused or abused, these drugs can cause severe harm.

The Louisiana Dental Association would like to do its part in educating our members and the public on the dangers of opioid abuse. The Louisiana Dental Association Opioid Awareness Ad Hoc Committee hosted a kids’ art contest. Our overall winner was Cameron from Caddo Magnet High School in Shreveport. His artwork is featured on the front.

A.M. Course Title: “What Technologies Do You Really Need and Why-2019?”
P.M. Course Title: “Fifty Useful Clinical Tips-2019”

Dentists are always encouraging patients to perform daily tasks of brushing and flossing to take care of their teeth and prevent cavities. But when it comes to taking proactive steps to insure against losses for your practice, many are as non-compliant as their patients. The information in this column is provided to help you protect yourself, your family and your practice by making sure you CYA (Cover Your Assets)!

Naturally, you know you need malpractice insurance if you are practicing dentistry. And, of course you know that the cost for this insurance can vary greatly from carrier to carrier. It always pays to shop your insurance just as you would shop your equipment and supplies. But, remember that there is more to consider than premium savings.

The risk management tools, pre-claim advice and malpractice defense you receive from insurance carriers isn’t apples-to-apples. The saying, “The devil is in the details!” is never truer than when comparing malpractice insurance policies and carrier services. The choices you make today have an impact on your protection many years down the road.

The best carriers…
• Understand the unique exposures of dentists and dental specialists;
• Provide risk management tools to mitigate losses;
• And, defend you aggressively when you receive an accusation of malpractice that does not have merit.

Would your current carrier encourage you to settle a claim to avoid the cost of a court battle? Is it really in your best interest to do so? Before agreeing to a settlement, consider the impact of this decision on you personally and your practice. Your carrier should work with you to analyze the merit of a claim then implement a strategy that is in your best interest rather than the interest of saving the carrier the cost of defending you.

As a member of the LDA, you have access to malpractice insurance through Fortress Insurance Company. Fortress is owned and operated by dentists and only insures dentists. This means they are focused 100% on protecting you and your profession. And, as the LDA-endorsed malpractice carrier you can rest assured they will always place your best interest first.

Contact our LDA-sponsored insurance agency, Brown & Brown Association Services Professionals representative, for a competitive quote. You will likely find that you can have all the benefits of the LDA-endorsed malpractice insurance program through Fortress Insurance Company AND save premium dollars! Update on LSBD Members

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce four new board members of the Louisiana State Board of Dentistry. They are Dr. Jeet Patel, Dr. Kimberly Caldwell, Dr. Steve Ortego and Albert Bossier, J.D. As you may know, the board has 15 members; 13 dentists, one dental hygienist, and one consumer member. Ten of the board members are selected by the Governor from a list of three nominees from each of nine districts in the state. The nominations are made by the dentists in that district. Two board members come from the New Orleans district. Three of the dentist board members are made by the dentists in that district. Two board members come from the northern part of Allen parish and the southern part of LaSalle. Dr. Caldwell is also from Monroe, and was chosen as an at-large board member.

Dr. Ortego is from Ball, Louisiana (pop. 4,015), which is a town near Alexandria. He was chosen as a representative of District 3, which is comprised of the parishes of Avoyelles, Catahoula, Concordia, Grant, Natchitoches, Rapides, Sabine, Vernon, Winn, the northern part of Allen parish and the southern part of LaSalle. Mr. Bossier is a graduate of Tulane Law School and has practiced law in Covington for the past 29 years. He will serve as the consumer member of the Board, and is from Folsom.

Board members are not able to vote on disciplinary matters involving licensees from their district, so you may feel free to call the representative from your district if you have issues with the Board or questions regarding a Board matter. The Board member from your district can be a valuable resource to you and I encourage you to avail yourself of him or her should the need arise.

Our board members serve five-year terms. Until recently we had two oral surgeons on the Board, Dr. Ronnie Marks and Dr. Rick Willis. Due to the expiration of terms we found ourselves without an oral surgeon on the Board. This presented a problem for the Board because we so frequently deal with anesthesia issues. We require the expertise of someone with the type of anesthesia training that oral surgeons receive.

We corresponded with the governor’s office with the following statement from our board on this important matter: “In years past, we have relied on the advanced education and medical background, as well as many years of surgical experience and expertise for critical matters that our board is faced with on an ongoing basis. With regard to complaints related to deaths, anesthesia incidents, cases of advanced and life threatening infections, inappropriate diagnosis and/or treatment involving trauma or oral cancer and so much more has come before our board more often than you might imagine, it is essential for us to have an OMFS on our dental board. Although as general dentists we train four years after college, after earning a dental degree, prospective oral and maxillofacial surgeons move on to a hospital-based residency program that lasts up to six years. Competition is intense for these OMFS training slots – only about 170 are available each year and most are programs which will only consider candidates in the top 5% of their dental school class. At our own LSU Dental School in New Orleans, to get into that program a prospective candidate has to be either #1 or #2 in his or her class get accepted into that residency program and has to have impeccable character and integrity. During residency, OMFS residents train alongside future anesthesiologists, internists, general surgeons, plastic surgeons, and emergency physicians. Upon completion of the minimum four years dental school and four years hospital training an OMFS become full members of the medical healthcare team. All OMFS’s share call with medical and dental colleagues in trauma centers and local hospitals. As general dentists, we’re like Cessna pilots and these guys and ladies are like F-15 pilots. “I can fly a Cessna, but you wouldn’t want to be in the cockpit with me in an F-15!”

Since this all occurred, the Board worked with the LDA and AAOMS to have the legislature pass a bill to remedy this problem. HB 69 would ensure that one of the at-large positions on the LSBD would be henceforth held by an oral surgeon, dental anesthesiologist or other dentist with comparable training in sedation and anesthesia. The bill was amended to become effective immediately without removing anyone currently serving on the board. The bill has been signed by the Governor and is effective as of June 11, 2019.

You might be surprised to learn that “dental anesthesiologist” is listed in the bill. Until very recently dental anesthesia was not considered a specialty by the ADA. Until 2017, our Board rules recognized only the specialties listed by the ADA as dental specialties. In 2017, we changed our rules to allow any dentist who has done an accredited, full time, two-year residency to be considered a specialist. That opened the door for dental anesthesiologists. Last year the ADA also recognized dental anesthesiologists as a dental specialty. We do not yet have any dentists in this state who have chosen to list themselves as a dental anesthesiologist, but that might be because if a dentist lists himself as a specialist in an area, he or she must limit his or her practice to that specialty. Dentists who have done a residency in dental anesthesia may not wish to have to limit themselves to only doing dental anesthesia.
Kerst Receives LDA Student Award

The LDA Student Award is presented to a graduating senior who best represents and conducts his/her life in accordance with the ideals of the profession of dentistry, and who has demonstrated a willingness to be involved with organized dentistry. The winner of the student award is selected by the LDA President, the Chairman of the LDA Council on Government Affairs, and the LDA Executive Director. Then LSUSD senior and now dentist, Dr. Jeffrey Kerst, was the recipient of this year’s LDA Student Award. It was presented to him by LDA President, Dr. Kristi Soileau.

Marks Receives SSOMS Lifetime Achievement Award

Ronald B. Marks, D.D.S., F.A.C.D., F.I.C.D. (right) received the Southeastern Society of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons (SSOMS) Lifetime Achievement Award at the organization’s 70th Annual Meeting at the Europe Hotel and Resort, in Killarney, Munster, Ireland. Among his many years of service and accomplishments, Dr. Marks is past president the American Association of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgeons. The award was presented by SSOMS President Lee F. Allen, D.M.D., M.D.

Marks Receives LSU Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Alumnus of the Year Award

Dr. Ronnie Marks (right) was the 2019 recipient of the inaugural LSU Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Alumnus of the Year award. The award was established by the Jack Kent Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery Foundation Board of Directors to recognize and honor alumni of the LSU OMS program that have distinguished themselves through significant contributions to the specialty. The award was presented by Dr. Tooley Towns.
On May 8, 2019, it was a privilege to dedicate the newest LSU Health School of Dentistry building in memory of Dr. Allen A. Copping, one of the most influential educators and leaders in Louisiana’s history. Over 100 guests including former Governor Edwin Edwards and Dr. Copping’s three adult children, Lisette Copping, Cherie Copping-Cobb and Allen Copping, joined us to commemorate his extraordinary lifetime contributions to education and the dental profession. It is the first new permanent building on the campus since the completion of the school’s two original buildings in 1972. Funded entirely by FEMA to replace the space lost due to Hurricane Katrina, the building houses the school’s clinical and basic science research facilities, a new faculty practice representing all oral health disciplines, and the mechanical and electrical equipment for operation of all three buildings on the campus.

Dr. Copping served at LSU for more than 40 years in a variety of senior leadership roles. A member of the inaugural dentistry faculty, he became dean of the School of Dentistry, then chancellor of the LSU Medical Center, and, finally, president of the LSU System. Throughout his many decades at LSU, Dr. Copping enjoyed a well-deserved reputation as a man of extraordinary loyalty, honesty, compassion, and sincerity who was steadfastly devoted to public education and to the well-being of all the citizens of his beloved state of Louisiana. He was born in New Orleans on February 11, 1927, educated in the public school system, and guided in his formative years by his parents, Allen J. and Marie B. Copping. Dr. Copping graduated from Loyola University of New Orleans in 1949 as a doctor of dental surgery, then joined the United States Navy, serving his country with distinction for five years during the Korean Conflict as an oral surgeon on a hospital ship. After his discharge, Dr. Copping returned home and began a successful dental practice that included serving on the faculty at the Loyola University School of Dentistry, holding various leadership positions in the New Orleans Dental Association, and receiving special awards from numerous national and international dental organizations.

He joined the faculty of the newly created LSU School of Dentistry as a clinical associate professor of crown and bridge on March 1, 1968, and was instrumental in the development of LSUSD. On April 6, 1974, he was appointed the second dean of LSUSD and, on June 13 of the same year, the Louisiana Board of Supervisors called upon him to become the third chancellor of the LSU Medical Center, a position he filled with great distinction for the next 11 years. As chancellor, Dr. Copping helped initiate a remarkable expansion in both the curricular offerings and in the physical facilities as he managed LSU’s two health sciences centers and the university’s statewide network of hospitals and clinics. Dr. Copping also played a key leadership role in the development of the Pennington Biomedical Research Center, helping to secure a generous gift of $125 million in 1980 from oilman C.B. “Doc” Pennington and his wife. At the time, it was the largest single gift to an institution of higher learning in the country. On March 18, 1985, Dr. Copping became the third president of the LSU System and the 15th LSU president, leading its eight campuses with annual budget of over two billion dollars. He retired in 1999 after 14 years as president of the LSU System and passed away at the age of 84 on December 11, 2011.

On the heels of the building dedication, graduation was held the following week. We extend a special thanks to Dr. L. King Scott, president of the LSUSD Alumni Association, for joining us as our keynote speaker. He and his wife, Kari, made the long drive from West Monroe to join us for the most important event of our academic year. Dr. Scott’s message to the graduates was most impactful as he reflected on his 40+ years as a dentist. “You have gotten a fabulous education here at LSU,” he said. “Don’t forget a great part of your success is because of the time you have spent here.” In total, 98 students graduated from our three degree programs—59 from dentistry, 37 from dental hygiene, and two... from dental laboratory technology. Of those who graduated with a doctorate in dental surgery, one is entering the military, 43 are entering private practice (13 are leaving Louisiana), and 15 are pursuing postgraduate education.

One highlight was the class composite painting by graduate Dr. David Ward. According to his classmates, he succeeded in capturing the personality of each dental graduate in the painting. Please know how much we appreciate the support of the dental community, helping us to ensure that our students receive the best education possible.
Dental Lifeline Network • Louisiana

May 2019

Dental Lifeline Network • Louisiana appreciates the Louisiana Dental Association and its partnership in jointly developing a Donated Dental Services (DDS) program in 1987, to help people with disabilities or who are elderly or medically fragile and have no other access to dental care. The Louisiana DDS program is part of a network in which services are available in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. Last year, DLN volunteers provided over $26 million in donated treatment nationwide. Since inception, Louisiana dentists and labs have donated over $11 million worth of comprehensive treatment for 5,308 vulnerable people.

DLN’s “Will You See One Vet” campaign continues to generate interest from dentists across the country, including those in LA, who are helping veteran patients with disabilities or who are elderly or medically fragile. If you are interested in helping a veteran, go to https://dentallifeline.org/willyouseeonevet/.

DLN thanks the many LDA members who contributed to DLN thru their LDA dues statements this year. If you have not yet donated to DLN, go to www.dentallifeline.org and click on “Donate.”

¹Donated treatment value includes donated lab value.

²Average value is based on patients that have completed comprehensive treatment; does not include active patients, or patients who continue to receive ongoing care from their DDS volunteer.

³Number of Patients Served includes: patients who completed their treatment plan; patients who received services but treatment plan is not yet complete; and patients who are linked with a volunteer but haven't yet received treatment.

The DDS program restores the oral health and often transforms the lives of the patients we serve, like Dorrell, 70, who lives in Ascension Parish near her two children and three grandchildren. She has many health challenges including osteoarthritis, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, sleep apnea, a recent hip replacement, blood circulation problems and more. Dorrell is a retired office administrator who worked at Louisiana State University. Surviving on a small pension and Social Security benefit, she struggles to make ends meet. In addition, her dental health had deteriorated over the years and her teeth had become brittle and many were broken and causing her pain. Fortunately, the DDS program was able to help and a volunteer dentist and lab came to her aid. Thanks to this generous team of volunteers, Dorrell received thousands of dollars in donated treatment that restored her oral health and smile! She wrote to express her joy and gratitude for this amazing gift.

“I have waited years for this to be taken care of and would never have been able to do it on my own. (This) was a wonderful experience.”

The new tax law provides huge opportunities for tax savings. This article will concentrate on the IRS code Section 199A, which provides a new deduction for pass-through practice profits. In general, this provision allows a 20% deduction for qualified business income (QBI) from partnerships, S corporation and sole proprietorships. The deduction effectively reduces the top federal tax rate on QBI from 37% to 29.6%. It is important to note that QBI must be calculated separately for each business.

Congress sought to limit (or eliminate) the deduction for higher income doctors and other business owners based on the type of business operated. For dentists, physicians, lawyers, accountants, financial service businesses or others of which the “principal asset is the reputation or skill of one or more of its employees/owners” which are considered Specified Service Trade or Businesses (SSTB), the deduction is phased out for single taxpayers with taxable incomes beginning at $157,500 and for married taxpayers beginning at $315,000. Doctors get no deduction if their taxable income exceeds $207,500 if single, or $415,000 if married.

Strategies

Following are several strategies that can help high income doctors, especially those who are slightly above the income thresholds set forth above, reduce their taxable income to maximize the 199A deduction.

1. Optimize Depreciation Deductions – Although there are opportunities for increased expensing options under the new tax law, you should be careful to manage your depreciation deductions to help you stay under the income thresholds mentioned above for as many years as possible.

2. Maximize Retirement Plan Contributions – Taxable income can be reduced by increased funding of the doctor’s retirement plan or by adding a second plan (defined benefit plan) for much larger deductions.

3. Establish a Health Saving Account (HSA) – Utilization of a High Deductible Health Plan will allow contributions of up to $7,000 to your HSA account for family coverage with a $1,000 catch-up contribution available for each spouse age 55 or older.

4. Reduce investment income and capital gains – By using a tax efficient portfolio strategy for the doctor’s investment accounts, taxable income can be reduced. Also, capital gains on real estate can be deferred using a Section 1031 tax-free exchange.

How It Works

Let’s assume the taxpayer is filing jointly with his spouse, has $300,000 in practice profits from his S corporation and a salary of $250,000. If he has $75,000 in itemized deductions his taxable income will be $475,000 ($300,000 + $250,000 - $75,000). This doctor will not receive a deduction under Section 199A because his taxable income exceeds the threshold $415,000 for a jointly filed return.

However, if this doctor were to utilize one or more of the strategies listed above to reduce his taxable income below the $315,000 threshold, he would then qualify for the Section 199A deduction of 20% of his QBI income (practice profits). If his QBI comes in at $300,000, he will receive a $60,000 deduction under Section 199A. This $60,000 Section 199A deduction translates to $14,400 in tax savings.

Proactive Planning

Unfortunately, it is difficult to affect the taxable income of a doctor after the year has ended. The example set forth above shows how important proper advance planning can be in optimizing the tax benefits from Section 199A. In addition to simply making the calculations, your tax advisor will be able help you identify which strategies may apply to your business and help you maximize the impact on your bottom line.

How did dentists work back in the days before modern air conditioning and central heating became commonplace? Hard to imagine what that was like especially in the middle of a Louisiana summer. It’s awfully nice to enter a workplace that feels like a soft, cool spring morning in the middle of July. To achieve that wonderful feeling for me in my office, I set the thermostat at 73 degrees.

I learned long ago that 73 degrees is not always agreeable with everyone in a workplace, and so when I started my practice, the 20 Year Thermostat War began.

I started noticing that about mid-day while working on a patient, my assistant would comment about the tops of my ears turning blue. It was then that I realized that the tips of my fingers were tingling and my toes were numb. I was freezing.

Someone adjusted the thermostat to 50 degrees! And so it began...I’d re-adjust and then someone (always nameless), comes behind and re-调整s the re-adjustment. This happened for a few months until I had the Lockbox installed.

I had my a/c repairman install the Lockbox, which is basically a clear locking box that surrounds the thermostat and yours truly has the only key. This was wonderful for a few months until I noticed that it was getting cold again. Yep, that dude was set on 50 when I opened it.

How was this happening? I grilled my staff individually under a hot lamp and all denied any involvement. After some more time went by, I decided to replace the thermostat as it must be faulty. My nice a/c repair guy did just that but told me he didn’t think that was the problem.

Sure enough, it is still cold in here. I took it upon myself to do a thorough exam of the Lockbox using my LED curing light and found it! There it was, on the backside hidden in a seam - a small oblong perforation, just the right size to squeeze a fingernail file through and adjust that thing to 50 degrees.

After another round of questioning my staff, and the threat of 401K adjustments, my hygienist finally broke down and told of how her piezo ultrasonic machine somehow was able to perforate the Lockbox. I repaired the perforation with some Gradia composite, after etching (30% phosphoric acid) and applying bonding agent and a thorough light curing of 7.3 seconds.

I knew it was only a matter of time before this thing would be compromised again.

I then ordered and had installed a new thermostat that can be adjusted via an app that can be downloaded to your phone. Talk about sweet! I could now adjust the temperature from anywhere in the world via the internet...and I was the only soul who knew the password.

At least that’s what I thought, until one morning, I walked in and could see a vapor trail from my breathing. Someone had hacked my thermostat online and set it at its lowest setting. Within the hour, the electricity went off in the building. Actually, all of south Shreveport was experiencing a brown-out. Not only was Shreveport affected, but parts of Dallas and Houston and most of southern Ontario were without electricity due to the same internet hacker according to the special report on the news.

The culprit turned out NOT to be any known terrorist organization, but instead was my assistant’s 11 year old kid on his computer. She had bribed him to perform an internet break-in to my thermostat and actually did it a little too well, according to the nice people from the Department of Homeland Security.

I had a meeting with my staff the next day and declared that I was defeated and indeed surrendering so that the 20 Year War could come to a close. We came to a compromise of a 60-64 degree setting and an upward adjustment to their 401K contribution by me.

It’s been a few years now but I can work pretty good and comfortable wearing long thermal underwear and heated socks. If I could just keep my ears from turning blue, life would be almost perfect.
